Large turnout for public forum

A public forum hosted by Save and Grow Guyra Ratepayers Inc. last week drew a large turnout of residents eager to engage in discussions about key community issues. The event featured speeches by Brendan Moylan, MP for Northern Tablelands, and Cr Eli Imad of Armidale Regional Council, both of whom addressed significant local concerns and ongoing regional challenges.

Brendan Moylan, a dedicated advocate for regional New South Wales, shared his experience as a Member of Parliament, offering both a candid reflection on the realities of state politics and insight into his most notable achievements. He discussed a range of issues, focusing on youth crime and the difficulties in securing adequate resources for regional healthcare.

Moylan voiced particular concern about the increasing rates of youth crime in regional areas, citing gaps in legislation that allow such issues to persist. His Private Members Bill on Youth Crime Reform, which he presented to Parliament, was highlighted as a key initiative. Additionally, he praised the success of the BackTrack Youth Work Program in Armidale, which offers mentorship and support for at-risk youth.

Moylan also touched on the ongoing struggles within local hospitals, particularly the challenges of staffing shortages and the decline in maternity services across rural and regional NSW. He referenced a recent speech in Parliament urging the government to take immediate action to address these issues.

Furthermore, Moylan called for feedback from the community on the Health Services Amendment (Splitting of the Hunter New England Health District) Bill 2025, encouraging residents to share their opinions to ensure their concerns were heard.

337SQN Australian Air Force Cadets visit Guyra

On Sunday April 6, cadets and staff from Armidale's 337SQN Australian Air Force Cadets partnered with Guyra RSL sub-Branch and Armidale RSL sub-Branch at the Guyra Soldiers Memorial Hall for a joint morning tea and wide-ranging discussion about ANZAC Day and the role of RSL sub-Branches.

The event tied in to the cadet learning curriculum and through these discussions cadets gained an understanding of the importance of commemorating ANZAC Day and how members of the local community contributed to past wars and conflicts.

The cadets examined the extensive Honour Rolls at the hall and historian Martha Weideman provided an overview of the role of local men who joined the 33rd Battalion AIF and the 1st Light Horse Brigade in WW1.

The role of local servicemen and women in WW2, Korea, Vietnam, Afghanistan and various peace keeping operations was emphasised. Martha also highlighted the close affiliation that Guyra has with 1SQN RAAF Amberly as a result of the F111 crash in the area in 1993.

An excellent morning tea was provided by the ladies from the CWA Guyra Evening Branch. During morning tea, Hans and Chris Hietbrink from Guyra sub-Branch along with Max Tavener and Andrew St John Brown from Armidale sub-Branch held discussions with the cadets about the role of the RSL, being a member of the RSL, serving in the Defence Force, and the role RSL plays in supporting local veterans and their families.

New maternity and pregnancy options for women of Guyra

Have you heard about the Glen Innes Maternity Group Practice? What it is and how it can benefit any Mum to be?

Ruth Stace has been working as a local doula for the past three years has a heart to see women flourish and thrive throughout their pregnancy, labour and after the birth of their babies and is excited to share the possibility of new maternity and pregnancy options for the women of Guyra.

Midwives Jo and Heather from the Glen Innes Maternity Group Practice (MGP) are coming to Guyra to provide more information about the service they provide, their experience with mums who have already used the MGP, and to answer any questions you might have.

“The Glen Innes MGP serves women in the wider region – you don’t have to be living in Glen Innes to access their service,” Ruth said.

“If you register with the Glen Innes MGP you can expect to be assigned to the same midwife for all your appointments for your entire pregnancy, labour and postpartum care.

“This means you get to know your midwife and develop a relationship of trust, where she knows your story, gets to know you and your baby and walks the journey with you – in other words, continuity of care. I cannot recommend it highly enough.

“It is a well-known fact that this continuity of maternity care gives women and their babies the best outcomes, with fewer medical interventions and more satisfaction with their pregnancy and birth journey.

“So why not stack the cards in your favour and come and find out more, for yourself or someone you know?”

There will be an information evening on Wednesday the 23rd of April at 6.30pm at GALA (Bradley Street).

Light refreshments will be provided. Everyone is welcome.

To find out more contact Ruth Stace by email ruth-stace.doula@gmail.com or phone 0437405234

Guyra hosts information sessions for veterans from the region

On Saturday last, Guyra RSL sub-Branch hosted a very successful information session for veterans and their families where around 40 people attended; these included members of sub-Branches from Guyra, Glen Innes, Uralla and Armidale as well as veterans who are not members of RSL. We were very fortunate to have as presenters, Ms Sam Groom from Armidale Legacy Club and Mr Bronte Pollard, RSL NSW Liaison and Well-Being Support; and are most grateful to them both. These opportunities and presenters rarely occur outside the major centres.

We all learnt of the many services that Legacy and the National Centre for Veterans'

Healthcare provide for veterans and their families, and how important it is to engage with services to ensure our health and well-being are supported. There are almost 600,000 Australian veterans but around half of them are unknown to the Department of Veterans' Affairs which means many are receiving no supports whatsoever. We all realised that most people had no idea of their entitlements regarding their health and were surprised that so much exists to underpin veterans and families. Sadly, so many continue to think they don't deserve supports, or will not receive them so they don't engage.

After lunch Bronte conducted the LivingWorks safeTALK suicide prevention skills training where many of the veterans and some community members joined together to gain insight

Silence on nuclear energy

Peter Dutton says his nuclear power policy is "probably the biggest energy economic policy offered by an opposition in our country's history." So why have Dutton and Barnaby Joyce, a man not averse to spruiking, gone strangely silent on nuclear?

Maybe it's that recent nuclear projects around the world have been plagued by massive cost blowouts and delays. Or maybe it's that most experts say electricity produced from nuclear is more expensive than renewables. Possibly it's because it's actually illegal to whack up nuclear power stations at their proposed sites?

It could be that the Coalition has no idea where it would source the massive volumes of water needed for nuclear facilities. Maybe they don't know how to store deadly radioactive waste or how to address nuclear's real health and safety risks.

But the real explanation is that nuclear is not the "the biggest energy economic policy offered by an opposition in our country's history". It's simply the biggest con job.

and skills into how we can recognise the signs a person may be contemplating suicide and what we should do to help those family, friends and co-workers.

A special thanks to CWA Guyra Evening Branch for their provision of fabulous food to sustain us all for the day. Bronte reckons there's nothing quite like a CWA scone with jam and cream!

We encourage every veteran to engage with Guyra RSL sub-Branch. Our next meeting will be held Wednesday 23 April at 6pm at the Guyra Soldiers' Memorial Hall.

A dynamic Q&A session followed Moylan's address, with attendees raising a variety of issues, including crime, mental health, and the state's judicial system. Topics such as bail laws, sentencing, and crime prevention strategies were discussed in-depth, with Moylan providing thoughtful and thorough responses to each query.

The controversial Renewable Energy Zones (REZ) developments planned for the region dominated much of the conversation. Local residents expressed concerns about the potential environmental, economic, and social impacts of these projects. They raised issues related to land use, disruption to local ecosystems, and the long-term effects on the area's economy. Moylan expressed empathy for these concerns, acknowledging the complexities of such developments and outlining his approach to addressing the issues. However, he was candid about the challenges he faces in pushing for change from his position in the opposition. Despite these political hurdles, Moylan reaffirmed his commitment to advocating for solutions that reflect the concerns of his electorate, even if it meant challenging government policies and advocating for better community engagement.

Cr Eli Imad, from the Armidale Regional Council, also addressed the crowd, focusing on his commitment to transparency, accountability, and local advocacy. Imad provided an update on the work of the Armidale Regional Council, including his efforts to bring back rail services north of Armidale and attract investment to the region. He also highlighted his advocacy for the rehabilitation of Mother of Ducks Lagoon, a key environmental project. Imad shared progress on the restoration of the lagoon, explaining that new surveys and hydrology reports had been commissioned to assess its condition and the feasibility of returning it to its natural wetland state. This initiative was made possible through collaboration with Parks and Wildlife and demonstrates the power of local advocacy in driving positive environmental change.

Renewable energy projects continued to be a hot topic during Imad's address, particularly regarding the Armidale Regional Council's decision to accept funding from ACEnergy for a proposed battery project in Armidale. Many residents felt a "conscience vote" should have been held, and the motion should have been recorded. Imad clarified the motion, reaffirming his strong opposition to renewable energy developments in the area and promising to advocate for the interests of Guyra and surrounding communities.

The forum concluded on a positive note, with attendees expressing satisfaction with the respectful and informative discussions. The event showcased the deep engagement of the community and the responsiveness of their elected officials. Both Brendan Moylan and Cr Eli Imad were commended for their thoughtful responses and continued dedication to addressing the region's challenges.

Save and Grow Guyra Ratepayers Inc. expressed confidence in the strong representation provided by both Moylan and Imad at the state and local levels. The forum reinforced the importance of ongoing dialogue between the community and its leaders, ensuring that the voices of Guyra's residents continue to influence the future direction of the region.

Weekly Wool Market

April 4th - The national offering fell around 3,000 bales short of what was originally rostered with the market opening fully firm to slightly dearer on the first day of sales.

Momentum improved on the final day for most micron categories with the Northern region indicator gaining 5 cents for the week, closing at a new seasonal high. In a positive sign for next week gains in Fremantle were even stronger on the final selling day. 36,473 bales were sold nationally with a passed in rate of 5.1%.

Major buyers included Techwool, Endeavour Wool and Tianyu with a good spread of support from the trade. AWTA data released on Tuesday is showing an 8.9% decrease in the weight of wool tested nationally for the first 9 months of the season.

All states registered falls with Western Australia and South Australia recording double digit declines. Next week's offering reduces to around 35,500 bales. As for US tariffs the next figures are an estimate. Approximately 80% of Australian wool is exported to China. 45 to 50% of this is consumed locally.

It has been estimated that just 15% of all wool (Aust, NZ, South Africa & Chinese sourced) processed in China is exported directly to the US and it's reported that this 15% is of lower value.

Gazette's Celebrity Footy Tipping

All it takes is one good scoring week to leap up to the top of the Locals Leaderboard on 54 points.

Farmer Joe was the only tipster to achieve a top score of 14 points. At long last, the system that has been followed relentlessly by Farmer Joe finally bore fruit. May it be a bountiful harvest.

Dip Stick reigned supreme last week, but has now slipped to 2nd position along with the Winter Wombat. They are only 2 points behind the lead on 52 points.

There was quite a lot of movement on the Locals Leaderboard this week with a range of scores from just 4 points to 12 points.

It seems the Locals are better tipsters than our Celebrities. Kim is in top position on 50 points (4 points behind our top Local tipster).

Robert is 2 points behind Kim on 48 and in 3rd position we have Sue on 46 points. The top scores for our Celebrities were MCLS and Vu who achieved just 10 points.

Good luck with your tips for round 5 and please don't forget to get your tips in on time!

Hat Trick for Buntine

Guyra Women's 3rd grade side

Guyra Women's 3rd grade had a dominant performance against NEGS with a convincing 5-1 victory. With quick successive passes down the field Jacqui Buntine positioned herself perfectly to find the backboard three times and in the final quarter had a possible 4th disallowed.

This put Jacqui in a position to challenge for top goal scorer for 3rd grade as she is now equal with sister Susie Crawford. All eyes will be watching our next match against TAS to see if the attacking force can continue!!

Second Grade Women also came away with a 2-1 victory against United. The highly anticipated return of Maz Sisson and Anna Heagney injected power and skill across the field to give the team the depth needed to keep United at bay.

The laughs and banter was heard by all spectators reinforcing the fun these ladies will have this season.

Guyra Men's players were busy playing representative hockey for HNE and apparently what happens on tour stays on tour!!!!

Rugby League returns as Guyra takes on Narwan

The Spudettes warmed up against Werris Creek in the pre-season.

The Super Spuds make their New Red Hill return on Sunday when they face old rivals Narwan.

With home-grown captain-coaches Ben Vidler and Danielle Sutton in charge, the Spuds A grade and leaguetag teams will kick-off 2025 on home soil after a bye in the first round of the Group 19 competition.

Featuring a young squad, the Spuds go into the first competition game fresh from a 22-nil trial game win over Sawtell at Bellingen three weeks ago.

It will be a Group 19 A grade debut for several Guyra players stepping up from under 18s for the first time.

The Spudettes lost their trial game at Werris Creek and take on a very different look to the team from 2023, but will kick off the day at 1pm with the men to follow at about 2.15pm.

It's $5 entry with bar and canteen open. Spuds supporter jackets will be available at the game and fans can check out the new bar stools and heaters in the grandstand as the club continues to make improvements to the facilities.

The post-game activities will be at new major sponsor the Guyra Hotel.

Men's Bowls

Bowls results from last weekend are:

Jason Varcoe defeated Mathew Simpson 31-25, Barry Walls defeated Wayne Reeves 31-14 and Randy Mulligan was too good for Tim Ellis winning 31-7.

In open singles Randy Mulligan will play John McIlwain with Wayne Reeves to mark

In major singles Anthony Bull will play Robert Moore with David Wilcox to mark

In handicap singles Roger Cox will do battle with Colin Stanley with Barry Walls to mark.

Jack.
